PORTLAND 12, OREGON

Dear Customer:

We offer this Camellia list in hopes that it will help you in deciding the varieties you wish. We specialize in Camellias and have over 300 varieties to pick from. If you do not find the variety listed that you are interested in, drop us a line and we may be able to spare one. Some of the varieties are so new and rare it takes us a while to build up a stock of them. Our customers should know that we have new varieties each year to sell.

Please order Camellias by their name, size and price. Please allow time for shipping. We ship by express or parcel post. We will accept money orders or checks, or if you wish we will ship it C. O. D. Customer pays shipping charges. Some of the varieties listed are not always available in all sizes. Please state if we can substitute on sizes and varieties if sold out.

The best time to see the Camellias blooming at the greenhouse is from January till the end of May.

We have the newest ideas out in Camellias. "Espalier Camellias," in all different shapes, sizes and forms. Then we have tre form and umbrella form grafted Camellias. We also have Camellias grafted with three, four and six different varieties on one plant to sell. We have one Camellia with eighteen varieties on it, one with seventy-five varieties grafted on it and we have the world's record grafted Camellia with one hundred and fifty different varieties on it.

We offer the suggestion, "Camellias for hedges," which is the coming thing because they need very little pruning, is always evergreen and have beautiful blooms. We give a 10% discount for 10 plants or over.

We welcome all visitors to our Nursery and we are open all day on Sunday for the convenience of the customer.

We also have Rhododendrons, Azaleas and many other evergreen shrubs at our Nursery.

Sincerely yours,

P. L. VAN DER BOM

PLANTING AND CARE OF CAMELLIAS

HERE ARE A FEW SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS TO FOLLOW
WHEN PLANTING YOUR CAMELLIAS.

1. Do not plant Camellias too close to the house on the sunny side of the house; or next to anything that throws off a reflection as it may burn the foliage. Allow at least three feet distance from object.

2. Camellias will grow in any soil; but you can help them to grow faster and to set more buds by building up the soil with peat moss, rotted vegetation or leaf-mold from the woods.

3. Do not over-fertilize. If you use well-rotted barnyard fertilizer use only on top of ground. Do not ever use any lime as they are an acid loving plant and lime sweetens the soil. Since the war we have been using Vigoro and we have had great success with it. If you use this be very careful not to use too much as it is better to fertilize twice a year than to burn the roots by over-fertilizing all at once. Be sure to water fertilizer in well.

4. The watering of a Camellia is very important. The fiber roots grow close to the top of the ground and therefore will dry out if not watered during the dry months of the year. The peat-moss you put on top of ground around your Camellias will help a lot. Remember the care you give your Camellias will tell the following spring. If your bush has a yellowish colored foliage, then it either needs fertilizer or you have let it get too dry during the summer months. In this case the blooms may not develop to their normal size. Do not cultivate around a Camellia as you may disturb the fiber roots.

5. Planting instructions. . . . Leave burlap on plant as it holds the roots all together and keeps the wind from whipping it back and forth in the ground. This applies to any shrub. Plant the Camellia so that top of the ball is about one inch under the ground. This is important because a Camellia does not like to be planted too deep. Always before covering with dirt pour a couple of buckets of water all around the ball of the plant in the hole and let dissolve before covering with top dirt. This helps to set your plant firmly in the ground. When you get your Camellia planted add either peat-moss or any other rotted vegetation to hold the moisture and this also allows the fiber roots to grow close to the top of the earth without drying.

THESE INSTRUCTIONS ALSO APPLY TO RHODODENDRONS AND AZALEAS. THEY ALL LIKE THE SAME KIND OF CARE.

CLASS D

Class D Camellias are all new Rare varieties grafted on 4 year roots. The purpose of a grafted plant is to age the plant so that it will grow faster and bloom younger. We do this by grafting onto the root of a Camellia that has grown three or four years. This usually makes it bloom the second year after grafting it.
